

What is CORK?

Natural product evoking the tree from which the cork is harvested (the bark of the cork-oak), enhanced with precious sparkles which reflect the light differently, depending on the hour of the day, always showing the material at its best.

Applications

Cork swings between a warm and a cold atmosphere, creating a very contemporary look. A smart choice of textured motifs – referring to weathered materials – simili plains matching intertwining and damask designs, all of them printed on organic material with its irresistible charm. Imperfect but gorgeous, this noble material stages a subtle superposition between backing and design, each layer adding to the stunning result.
